

HOPE FLOOD CREST IS NEARLY PASSED

AUTHORITIES THINK WATERS SHOULD BEGIN TO SUBSIDE NOW.

MOTOR BOATS IN USE

In the Work of Rescue—Drive Cattle Speculators From Camps of the Refugees.

New Roads, La., May 8.—It is believed by those in charge of flood relief work that practically all of the flood marooned inhabitants of Point Coupee Parish will have been rescued by the end of the week. The Texas and Pacific Ry., officials say their road has transported about 7,000 persons from points along the line from the upper parts of the Parish. The Texas Pacific station at New Roads is crowded with white people waiting to be taken to the relief camp at Baton Rouge. Among them are four women who were rescued near Morganza. They had been standing in water three feet deep for over three days when boatsmen reached them. The women were on the verge of collapse and had lost everything except the clothing they wore. The water from the crevasses at Torrance continues to spread over the country in the direction of the Parish. The situation in the country between the main lines of the Port Allen Branch of the Texas and Pacific Ry. is gloomy. The main line of the road is washed out in numerous places and inhabitants of the interior are cut off from access to the relief trains. The only way they can be reached is by motor boat. The government representatives have arranged to send motor boats to the territory today. Lieutenant Weeks of the U. S. relief corps at Baton Rouge has given live stock speculators a hard blow. They have become so annoying in their efforts to buy low price cattle in the flooded country that the officer has given orders to the soldiers to keep all speculators off the levees. This forenoon there have been no new breaches in the dikes, but the flood waters continued to spread over new territory. The torrent from the crevasses in Torrance reached New Roads today and hundreds of people in territory which had been considered safe from the flood are now endangered. Couriers have been sent into the menaced country warning the people to flee. The situation at New Orleans remained unchanged today. The river had risen 4.4 of a foot in the last 24 hours and it is believed the crisis will be reached here within the next two days. Engineers say the levees guarding the city will hold.

FRENCH SEND MORE TROOPS TO MOROCCO

Seven Additional Battalions Will be Hurried to Africa as Result of Disturbances.

Paris, May 8.—Owing to the threatening conditions in Morocco the French government has decided to send seven additional battalions of infantry as well as extra batteries of artillery to that country. Two battalions of native Senegalese infantry, now being mobilized near Dakar, in Senegal and those will reach Casablanca Morocco June 20. These reinforcements will give General Molitor, a force of 35,000 men with another 11,000 spread out along the frontier of Algeria. The latest advices from Fez indicate that foreigners there are filled with uneasiness and fear that further outbreaks are impending. Paris, May 8.—Gen. Lyautoy, the newly appointed governor of Morocco called this afternoon from Marrakech on board the cruise Jules Ferry, for Tangier when he will proceed to Fez. According to the Executive his orders are "strike quick; strike hard."

FEWER DISORDERS IN STRIKE TODAY

Less Trouble Experienced Today With Striking Pressmen on Streets of Chicago.

Chicago, May 8.—There was less disorder today than at any time since the beginning of the newspaper strike. J. P. Lynch, international president of the typographical union, has called a meeting of the local organizations for late this afternoon to consider the strike situation and decide what action the printers will take in the controversy. Burned Papers. James F. Enright, thirty-five years old, a union printer was arrested today, charged with having set fire to a bundle of newspapers at a news stand. The burning of the newspapers attracted a large crowd. ARREST MARINE ON CHARGE OF STEALING DIAMONDS FROM MRS. P. C. KNOX [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Los Angeles, Cal., May 8.—A marine aboard the cruiser Maryland was arrested today charged with having robbed Mrs. Phyllander C. Knox, who is of state, of diamonds valued at more than two thousand dollars. SUGAR PRICES TEN CENTS A HUNDREDWEIGHT LOWER New York, May 8.—All grades of refined sugar were reduced 10 cents a hundred pounds today.

TEXAS CONVENTIONS GIVE COLONEL LEAD

Returns From County Conventions Show President is Leading But Outcome is Still Uncertain.

Dallas, Texas, May 8.—It will require the state convention of May 28th to decide between President Taft and Theodore Roosevelt as to the Texas preference for the presidential nomination. Colonel Roosevelt had a substantial lead over Mr. Taft in the county conventions in the returns received this forenoon when three fourths of the state county conventions had been heard from. The undistributed delegates however, neutralize the effect. Forenoon figures were as follows: Roosevelt 72, Taft 45. Undistributed 40, contest. Conventions not reported for the county convention are fifteen. Wilson Ahead. Reports from all but thirty six of the two hundred and forty nine Texas county conventions heard yesterday, show that Woodrow Wilson has more than enough votes to control the state convention May 28. The returns this morning gave Wilson, 350; Harmon, 149; and Clark 43. There are six hundred and twenty-three votes in the state convention, three hundred and twelve being necessary to control. Maryland Situation. Baltimore, May 8.—The attitude of the Taft leaders in Maryland toward the peculiar situation which might develop through the working of the new state primary law, was still undecided today. Although the unofficial returns declare the counties and Baltimore and other cities by their preference vote, have instructed these delegates to choose a delegation to vote for Roosevelt. The Taft leaders, according to their claims, could control the organization of the state convention and the personnel of the national delegates. The Roosevelt leaders assert they have no fears. Such a complication would rob them of the fruits of the victory they claim on the preference vote. Kansas Convention. Independence, Kansas, May 8.—Republican state convention which will be called in order to name the four delegates to the national convention to endorse the candidacy of Colonel Roosevelt, gave the "Big Four" to vote for him on the first ballot. William Allen White of Emporia, will be endorsed for the national committee with Fred Stanley of Wichita, as temporary chairman and Governor Stubbs as permanent chairman. Go to Chicago. Washington, May 8.—Managers of the Taft and Roosevelt national campaign committees are planning to transfer their activities session of the republicans national convention scheduled for June 6. The last state to select delegates to the Chicago convention will be South Dakota where primaries are to be held June 4.

SUFFRAGE VOTE IN KANSAS IMPORTANT

Result of the Suffrage Vote in Kansas Will be Closely Watched Is Opinion Expressed.

Wichita, Kan., May 8.—Mrs. Lucy B. Johnston, wife of the chief justice of the Kansas supreme court, president of the Kansas equal suffrage association addressing the annual convention of the organization here today, said that not only had the national woman's suffrage association donated literature for the Kansas campaign, but the Reverend Anna H. Shaw, national president had added with money from the national fund. "Our victory or failure," she said, "will affect the movement throughout the world. Dr. Shaw knows that not only the state but every country on the face of the earth will feel it if Kansas loses."

LONG NURSED GRIEF CAUSE FOR SUICIDE

Chicago Woman Grieving for Two Years Over Husband's Death, Takes Gas, But May Recover.

Chicago, May 8.—Grief over the death of her husband two years ago is believed to have led Mrs. Mary Stielz to attempt suicide by gas at her home on the North Side today. A note which the woman was writing when she was overcome by the fumes read: "I would rather die than go home alone. I also feel I cannot live without Stielz. He was my love and the two of us were the world, and therefore we couldn't be happy. I have a warning that misfortune would happen to us on our journey." The sentence was uncompleted and the note unsigned when the woman was found in an unconscious condition by neighbors. She was removed to a hospital.

POLICE SEEK CLUE TO BIG JEWEL LOSS

Arrest Hotel Maid Thought to Know Whereabouts of Subject in Theft of Mrs. De Saliba's Jewels.

San Francisco, May 8.—Through the arrest of Mrs. Marjorie Smith, the police hope to obtain a clue to the whereabouts of the $50,000 worth of jewels stolen from the apartments of Mrs. Eugene De Saliba, here, February 21. Mrs. Smith, who was a maid at the hotel from which the jewels were stolen, is charged with having stolen $143 from the residence here of Mrs. Ethel Davis. After she had been questioned it was announced she was not believed guilty of the theft, but that it was thought she knew the whereabouts of another maid who has been under suspicion and who left the hotel soon after the robbery.

SAYS TEDDY USES UNFAIR METHODS

Taft in Speech Today in Ohio Says Roosevelt is Hitting Below the Belt in Fight for Presidential Nomination.

Portsmouth, Ohio, May 8.—"I'm up against the wall, and I'm getting litt," shouted President Taft in a speech here today. "I'm being hit below the belt, and I'm here to fight," he continued, and the crowd yelled with delight. "I am said to represent the interests; to be under the influence of special privileges," he said. "Well, let us see. There is no administration in the history of the government in which the prosecutions have been so uniform and have been so prosecuted without fear and without regard to consequences. The interstate commission reported against Dan Hanna of Cleveland that he was accepting rebates. I took him before the attorney general and the district attorney and the grand jury and they found an indictment against him. "And now he is one of the patriots that is loudest in denunciation of me and strongest in support of Theodore Roosevelt."

COMMISSION BERTHS COMPLETELY FILLED

No Chance for Executive Appointment to State Positions Until Next Fall.

Madison, Wis., May 8.—Upon examining the record book of appointments at the executive office today, it was found that there is no possibility of any new appointments, except the being made before next fall. The governor has made a careful examination of all the boards and commissions to which he is required to make appointments and has found there will be no expirations for a considerable time to come. Just now, however, a number of letters are being received in reference to the new appointments the governor will have to make to fill the vacancy for county judge of Crawford county caused by the resignation of Assemblyman A. H. Long of Prairie du Chien. It is not expected this appointment will be made for several weeks.

ENGINEER PREVENTS SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Keeps Engine Running When Two of Drive Wheels Drop From Track Near Appleton Last Night.

Appleton, Wis., May 8.—A north-bound passenger train on the Wisconsin division of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, due in Appleton about midnight, had a narrow escape from a bad wreck when two drive-wheels of the locomotive left the track two miles this side of Little Chute. The engineer of the train, realizing that the locality was dangerous, the railway track being on an embankment, did not stop the train, but continued under reduced speed with the two drive wheels along on the ties for a distance of three miles, when in some unaccountable way the wheels jumped back on the track. Great credit is given the engineer for his presence of mind in not attempting to stop the train. Had he done so, a bad wreck undoubtedly would have resulted. The accident was a most peculiar one and was caused by the soft condition of the road-bed caused by heavy rains.

BISHOPS' ELECTION BEFORE CONFERENCE

Methodists Open Second Week of Convention With Large Amount of Important Business.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 8.—With the beginning today of the second week of the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church the election of the bishops and is occupying more and more the attention of the delegates. Conservative leaders place the number of bishops to be voted upon at first ballot at one hundred, while others say there will be two hundred. Two-thirds vote of the 850 delegates is necessary for the election of a bishop. Those who are prominently mentioned as candidates for the possible eight or ten new bishops have in most cases been candidates in previous conferences. Without debate, but in a slightly modified form, the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church today adopted the resolution presented Monday by W. F. Rice, of Chil, which protests against the action of the synodical missionary conference in Edinburgh recently which set aside all Protestant mission work in Greek and Roman Catholic countries and which charged synodical discussion at that time.

"BIG JOHN" RESIGNS AS VARSITY ATHLETIC COACH

Madison, May 8.—Coach John Richards, of the Wisconsin football department, has resigned. Friction arising from the controversy with the military department in the faculty's refusal to excuse freshmen from military drill to take part in athletics, led to the resignation of the coach.

PENNSYLVANIA RIOTS BECOME MORE ACUTE; POLICE CHARGE MOB

Several Shots Fired Which May Result in Fatalities.—State Police in Charge.

Pottsville, Pa., May 8.—Two men and one woman were shot by the state police at Minersville, near here, this morning when a mob was being dispersed. Stones were thrown at the policemen and when they started to use their riot sticks a pistol was discharged in the crowd. The police, fired into the crowd which had been put to rout and one man was shot in the leg, another in the stomach, and the nature of the woman's injuries is not known. The wildest excitement prevails in the town in which a number of idle miners live. The informants have been sent for by the local police. Major John C. Groome, Philadelphia, superintendent of the street police, is here and in command of the troops. In an interview he said: "The situation, as I think it, is peaceful. At present I have fifty-six additional well drilled men in Pottsville, besides Troop C. At Minersville this morning my men were compelled to shoot to protect themselves and the men they were assisting. They now have the situation well in hand."

HOPE FOR SENATOR SEEN IN MINNESOTA

Speaker Ingram 'Sounds Optimistic Note for La Follette Cause in Speech at Leroy Last Night.

Leroy, Minn., May 8.—Speaker Charles A. Ingram of the Wisconsin legislature opened the campaign for La Follette delegates here in an address last night. The La Follette managers of this locality have been endeavoring to get in touch with Senator La Follette in California and believe that if they can secure his services in the fight there is a possibility of carrying several districts in this state. "When one man like Charles E. Merriam of Chicago, who refused to desert La Follette, can by slender aid carry on a fight in Lorimerized Illinois and secure 43,000 votes for La Follette, what can be done in the progressive state of Minnesota?" said Speaker Ingram. "Within the past two years this state has retired Congressman Tawney because his political principles were antagonistic to the progressive ideas. I am fully convinced after going over the situation that the people of southern Minnesota and favor La Follette for president and the vote would be tremendous were they given an opportunity to express it by popular choice. I am honored as you are by the cause of progress, and confronted by the record of this progressive national leader, I think the state can be carried for him if every man does his duty."

GOVERNMENT OF HAITI FINDS CONSPIRACY PROOF.

Porte An Prince, May 8.—The Haitian government has discovered proofs of a conspiracy which has been organized in the town of Aux Cayes by partisans of Gen. Antoine Simon, formerly president of Hayti. A large number of arrests have been made, among the persons captured being I. Paulus Nannon, former Haytian minister at Washington.

HERE IS OPPORTUNITY FOR JANESVILLE BOYS

Discovery of Nesting Pair of Passenger Pigeons Means Liberal Reward for Finder.

There is an opportunity for the Janesville boys who are fond of wood lore and delight in the study of the bird life about the city. Years ago when there were not such stringent game laws, Wisconsin was filled with what was known as wild pigeons. Old time residents of Janesville and some of the present generation as well, will tell you of the great flocks of these birds that were seen every spring and fall and slaughtered by the thousands. Suddenly they disappeared and now in order to secure an intelligent search of the American passenger pigeon, in the hope that the species may be saved from extermination, the awards offered by eastern ornithologists for the last two seasons will again be offered this year.

For first information of the location of a nesting pair or colony of the birds anywhere in North America, when found with parent birds and eggs or young undisturbed, a total reward of $1,000 will be given. For the first nesting discovered in Wisconsin, a reward of $100 will be paid by John E. Thayer.

Special emphasis is laid by C. E. Hodge of Clarke University, Worcester, Mass., by whom the search is being conducted, upon the fact that the rewards are offered solely for the information of undisturbed nests. The possession of any birds, alive or dead, is not desired. The effort is directed solely to save the free, wild pigeons.

During the two years that the search has been conducted, several reports have been received from different parts of the country of the birds observation. These, however, without exception, have proven without confirmation. All were of other species of pigeon or dove and not so much as feather or tangible evidence has been found that the passenger pigeon still exists in the wild state.

The bird is sixteen inches in length, ruddy buff breasted, with red feet. It is often confused with the mourning dove which, however, is smaller and may be distinguished by a black spot on the side of the neck.

The teaching of bird lore in the over grades of the public schools invites the children to study the annual visitors and perhaps some Janesville boy or girl may be fortunate enough to win the prize offered by scientists who are most anxious to determine what has become of the missing birds.

ASSIGNMENTS MADE TO MANY ENGINEERS

Large Number of Jobs Filled and Several Vacancies Bulletin for Applications.

Bulletins at the roundhouse this morning showed a large number of assignments and vacancies for both engineers and firemen. Thomas McMahon and Fireman P. Miller have been assigned to the spotting job at Dark River. Mr. Englemer J. Esau and Fireman H. Neuman to the unloading job; Englemer Otto Johnson and Fireman P. Traxler to a hauling job on the new line, and Fireman Wm. L. P. Mohr and Fireman Wm. Leeper, Englemer F. Stoffen and Fireman A. Murren, Englemer Ray Sherburne and Fireman H. E. Judson, and Englemer H. D. Koenigke and Fireman W. Ayotte, Englemer Parker and Fireman P. Rummel have been assigned to the work train, trying up at North Lake. Englemer Metcher has been placed on the runs 634-635 between Madison and Lancaster, with Sunday layover at Lancaster.

Fireman W. Valentine has been assigned to the dispatching job at Wyville, days, and A. Murren, nights.

An engineer is wanted on the West Alle job in place of Thom. McMahon, transferred. Suburban runs numbers 1, 14, 29, 44, and 39 are open for application by engineers. Applications will be received from engineers and firemen for the new job on the work extra Milwaukee runs. Places are also open for two engineers and firemen on the special delivery job between Janesville and Truax 945-946 Milwaukee-Holmdale, and the Iowa switch job west engineers.

SHORELINE PLANT IS TAKEN OUT OF SERVICE

Switchmen Put at Switches Until Double Track Connection is Made—Buffalo Lake Plant Starts Tomorrow.

Following is a letter from headquarters posted in the shops this morning:

"To All Enginemen:—The interlocking plant at Shoreline will be taken out of service at 7 a. m., Tuesday, May 7, and switches will thereafter be handled by switchmen until double track connection is made. All trains will come to a full stop and then proceed on signal from switch-tender."

The movable joint frog in the north-bound track will be applied for the crossing at Beloit where the C. & N. W. road runs over the C. M. & St. P., where a flagman has been stationed days and nights both. Two serious accidents have happened there recently and made necessary this protection.

In another letter addressed to all enginemen it was also stated that the interlocking plant at Buffalo Lake will go into service at twelve noon Wednesday, May 8. All trains are ordered to stop at home signal and then proceed on signal indication until further advised.

Trainmen are warned to watch out for the crossing at Beloit where the C. & N. W. road runs over the C. M. & St. P., where a flagman has been stationed days and nights both. Two serious accidents have happened there recently and made necessary this protection.

One of the big new Class E engines is being used at the local roundhouse today for running the stationary engine and steaming up other engines, while the stationary boiler is being refilled. The new engine and its mate, which are in storage here, are finished up in a way which is common around here, and cushions being furnished for the enginemen, patent compressed air, broom door opener and many other appliances, making them very fine machines for this part of the country.

The Chicago steam wrecker was here yesterday and started off with the supply of battery vaults for the new block system between Harvard and Evansville. It is thought that the train will reach Harvard by the end of the week and the work of setting them will be commenced soon.

One extra was sent to Fond du Lac yesterday and Engine 1714 with Englemer Edwards and Fireman Gottfried in the cab took another out to Chicago this morning at 11:30.

Engine No. 1477 was run into the shops this morning to get a new set of brasses.

Bellmacker A. J. Clark is laying off today.

Wm. Sullivan was off yesterday and today to help move.

John Ames did not appear at work this morning.

Allie Blum and his helper, V. Blantz, are the men who are re-lining the stationary boiler today.

R. P. Schram, district storekeeper, was in the city yesterday visiting the local roundhouse storeroom.

Engineer C. B. Smith of Fond du Lac was in the city today. Mr. Smith was a resident of Janesville at one time.

Engine 912 was put on Train 21 this morning in place of the regular engine, No. 555.

BELOIT MAN IN SEARCH OF MISSING WIFE HERE.

Mrs. E. W. Chamberlain Has Not Been Home Since Last Wednesday—Has Four Children.

Mrs. E. W. Chamberlain of Beloit, has been missing from her home since last Wednesday when she left without warning or any apparent cause. Her husband visited Janesville last night and conferred with Chief of Police Appleby in the hope she might be located here, but found no clues.

Mrs. Chamberlain is the mother of four children, two boys and two girls, the oldest ten, and the youngest two. She left home after telling her husband she was going to the library to return a book. As the family was moving, Mr. Chamberlain returned to his working place to secure permission to get the afternoon off. When he returned his wife was gone and she did not return. No trouble had occurred between the husband and wife.

Sub-Grade on West Side of North Main Street Soon Ready for Rolling—Brick are on Ground.

Brick will be laid on the west side of North Main street and between the street railway tracks from Milwaukee street to Prospect avenue by a week from next Saturday if the expectations of Superintendent Foreman George Croft are realized. Good progress in the work preparatory to paving is being made. The subgrade on that part of the street will be ready for rolling as soon as a few depressions are filled with stone, and the dirt between the street railway ties has been dug away preliminary to straightening the track and harmonizing its grade with that of the pavement. The street railway workmen are expected to start operations there tomorrow.

An entirely new foundation will have to be laid for the pavement in the second block, from First street to Prospect, the material on hand being too poor to use. Ground has been broken on the west side and cement curbs and gutter put down on the east side from First to Fourth avenue.

The making of sewer, water, and gas connections on the portion of the street to be paved has nearly been completed, and the men are now at work between Prospect and Fourth avenue.

The Wisconsin Telephone Company will have to move five poles on the west side of North Main street in this block, as the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway will move their track in about four feet so that it will be inside the curb and gutter to be laid. The company's workmen will adjust the grade of the track and put concrete under the ties.

Thirty-two thousand brick, five carloads, have been piled up at the edge of the work for the paving of the west side of the first two blocks.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS by DAN McCARTY

If America wants to send a team of athletes to Stockholm this summer that will wait away with every thing in sight at the Olympic games, then it's up to America to roll up its sleeves and do some tall hustling.

James E. Sullivan, secretary of the American Olympic committee, declares procrastination is threatening the prospects of an American victory.

"I wish all those interested, either financially or athletically, in the project to send a winning team to Stockholm," said Sullivan, "were as active in their preparation as the collegians who have entered who are even now hard at work getting ready for the supreme test. We need both entries and money, and we need them now instead of later in the month, or sometime in June. Entries close at Stockholm June 6, which makes it necessary for us to mail our blanks not a day later than May 30. Not a single addition can be made to the list after it is mailed. So there you are—less than a month left in which to get a list of entrants of such proportions that we can cancel those not needed at the last moment, and still leave a team suitable to represent this country. Quick action in filling entries is the thing we most need right now."

Calgary, Alta., May 8.—The championship season of the Western Canada baseball league was ushered in today with games between Red Deer and Edmonton at Edmonton and between Moose and Calgary in this city. Though retaining the old name, the present league is virtually a new organization. Calgary and Edmonton are the only cities that were included in the old circuit, which embraced Winnipeg, Brandon, Moose Jaw and Saskatoon. The schedule for the present season provides for 120 games, with September 7 as the closing date.

INTERESTING TALK ON PRESENT STATE LAWS

F. E. Green Gave Talk Before Master Plumbers' Association Tuesday at City Hall.

Aside from perfecting their organization at the initial session of the Master Plumbers' Association of Southern Wisconsin, Tuesday, the delegates and members present listened to a most interesting paper read by F. E. Green of this city, on the state laws relative to plumbing and the duty of the plumber to the public.

He emphasized in strong terms the necessity of the legislation now on the statute books in the state of Wisconsin—relating to plumbing and its proper installation—being enforced in all cities to which it applies, namely those of the first, second and third classes.

The state supreme court has declared the law constitutional and within the jurisdiction of its police power, and a necessary and wise legislation to protect the public health. He advocated strongly, calling the attention of the mayors and common councils of the various cities represented, to the law which was passed in the year 1898, and its enforcement in the cities of southern Wisconsin. Among other things he said:

"The law compels every master plumber to pass a rigid examination before being permitted to install plumbing and drainage and provides for an inspector of plumbing to be appointed, whose duty it is to pass upon all plumbing installation.

"There are a number of cities in the state at present working under this law, the rigid enforcement of which has saved countless lives of children and adults that formerly were subjected to indirectly inhaling poisonous sewer gas. A great deal of attention is being paid in passing pure food laws, health laws of various descriptions, but plumbing inspection and its proper installation are overlooked in the public's mad rush for business, and its anticipated prosperity. In the desire to enjoy the luxury of extravagantly furnished homes plumbing installations are only a secondary consideration, very often no regard being paid to plumber, whether or not he is capable or has the necessary qualifications to be permitted into the home to practice a profession, considered by deep-thinking professional men, such as doctors, nurses, etc., as second to none in this great country of ours. Who has not seen children in their innocence congregated in the unsanitary out-houses where the deadly fly, mosquito and various other disease germs are being bred by the millions, and is it any wonder that so much disease of various natures is being spread when no attempt is made to eradicate the cause. Do not our mayors and councils realize the necessity of enforcing the state plumbing law in order to protect its citizens and their children from inhaling sewer air in public buildings, such as schools, etc., in which plumbing installations have been made without regard for sanitary laws; vitrified sewers installed, that pipe that out of ten are left in a leaky condition, the soil thereby becoming contaminated with disease breeding germs and the innocent children being compelled to breathe the air which may be permeated with contagious diseases, as witness the typhoid epidemic in our sister city, Rockford. Do not the citizens, then, realize the necessity of clamoring for the enforcement of a law which is intended to protect both the home of the rich and the poor? Perhaps the master plumbers are to blame for not putting the matter before their respective mayors and councils and show them that the enforcement of sanitary regulations is not intended for pecuniary benefits to the master plumbers, but intended to protect the health of the general public and stop the nefarious practice of installing light-weight goods—skin plumbing—traps without proper vents, or perhaps, without traps of any kind. If it is necessary that all physicians, dentists and even barbers, pass examinations and clinics find it to their interest to have work-masters, wood commissioners and sidewalk inspectors, it is by all means necessary to appoint a practical plumbing inspector or whose duty it is to protect the entire community from inhaling poisonous sewer gas.

IS RE-NAMED CHIEF BY EDGERTON BOARD

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Edgerton, May 8.—C. W. Dunn, after being off from duty as chief of police for one week by reason of his resignation, this morning again entered upon the same official position. Yesterday when the fire and police commission met to consider applications for the position, Mr. Dunn was the unanimous choice, although he had not made application. The commission has limited the hours of the position to a certain extent making it more agreeable, hence the offer was accepted. Mr. Dunn took the oath of office at eight o'clock this morning and at once entered upon his duties. The time specified is from eight o'clock in the morning to eight o'clock at night with every alternate Sunday off.

ANYTHING TO BEAT TAFT.

The slogan of the insurgent movement, when it assumed national scope, was "Anything to beat Taft." The Wisconsin senator, who had no expectation of winning, started it, and when Roosevelt "shook his hat into the ring" he was ready to take up the cry, if personal ambition could not be realized.

When all other arguments were exhausted the much-discussed southern delegate came in for a full share of attention, and efforts are made to have it appear that Taft is responsible for the southern apportionment, and in fact that he devised the scheme to insure his nomination.

There is nothing new about this proposition. It dates back to the reconstruction period when it was introduced as the foundation of the republican party in the South. It was then and is today, to large extent, the colored man's party, but it has been the nucleus of party organization and in some of the border states has resulted in making the republican party dominant.

The hope was entertained that northern capital and immigration would in time break up the solid South and the hope is being realized for more northern people are finding homes in the South today than at any time since the war, and the republican party is gaining recognition as never before. Many of the natives in the extreme South are Taft men. They voted for him quietly four years ago, and will vote for him again in November.

The southern apportionment has been criticized in every national campaign for the past twenty years, but it remains unchanged today and is likely to so continue for time to come. Organized democracy did not change it during the Cleveland administration, and organized republicanism has no desire to change it.

The southern delegates nominated Harrison and defeated Blaine, at the Minneapolis convention, twenty years ago, and they held the balance of power when McKinley and Roosevelt were nominated. If they render Taft a similar service there is no occasion for complaint.

Collier's Weekly, and some other muck-rake publications, are having spasms just now because of the southern situation. The case was different eight years ago, when they supported Roosevelt. It makes all the difference in the world whose ox is gored.

President Taft is in no way responsible for the southern apportionment of delegates. He could not change conditions if he would, and the campaign he is conducting in the South is a repetition of every campaign which has been conducted in that section for the past forty years.

LET THE CHILDREN PLAY.

A stroll through Central park, New York, one Sunday afternoon, not long ago, was a revelation, for instead of the warning signs, "Keep off the grass," children were everywhere in evidence and all sorts of devices were furnished for their entertainment. The great park was alive with boys and girls, and a little observation disclosed the fact that they were the children of the masses enjoying God's fresh air and sunshine in a public park which represents more in money value than any park in the land.

This choice breathing spot, free to four million people, is surrounded by the most expensive houses in the city, many of them owned, and all of them occupied by people of wealth, yet the park is public and enjoyed by rich and poor alike. What is true of Central park is true of every park, not only in New York and Brooklyn, but in every other large city in the country, as well as in many of the inland cities.

The question that comes home with a good deal of force, just now is, Why not Janesville? Much is being said about public playgrounds for our children. What better use could be made of the parks we have than to appropriate them to this purpose. The upper end of the Court House park would make an ideal playground and the fourth ward park is well adapted to the purpose. There are plenty of vacant lots in the other wards that could be rented at a nominal price, and with a little effort every ward in the city could be provided. The expense of equipment is not heavy, and if the city did not feel warranted in making the outlay, the money could be readily secured by private subscription.

We owe it to our children, and to the next generation, to provide wholesome recreation, and the public playground is recognized as the most practical, and is rapidly growing in public favor. The education of the street is demoralizing to the extreme. It is the recruiting ground of the saloon and the stepping stone for loss of reputation and character.

The man who plants a tree may not live to enjoy it, but somebody will, and so we continue to plant trees. How much more important is the planting of child life in clean and wholesome soil where development may follow under right environment.

The loss of the Titanic, and the tragedy connected with it, has been of such absorbing interest that the calamity which befell the doomed sufferers in the Mississippi valley has been largely overlooked. The loss of property is difficult to compute, while the loss of life is appalling and the number of victims will never be known. Suffering, which has been intense, still continues, and the stricken district is so large that relief work is greatly retarded. Nearly one thousand square miles of territory is under water and destitution is widespread.

The future has been largely discounted, so far as politics is concerned, and when the campaign is over, whatever may be the result, business will soon settle down to normal conditions. The demand for steel, both in railroad and construction work, is greater today than at any time in the history of the country. This means activity and steady employment for an army of men. The wage scale is likely to be maintained and an era of prosperity will follow. It is good to be alive in these phlegmatic times of political turmoil.

A smelting committee for the government discovered that the railroads were liberal advertisers in theatre programs and the charge was made that the money paid for this class of advertising was in consideration of a rebate to theatrical companies, and therefore in violation of law. The charges were proved, on investigation, and three of the railway companies paid a fine of $40,000. The way of the transgressor is beset with pitfalls, in these strenuous days of reform, and the railroads will hereafter confine their advertising to legitimate channels.

Chicago mail order houses are unable to secure advertising space in the city and inland press, and a promoter is attempting to start an afternoon daily to be distributed free in the smaller cities located within one hundred miles of the metropolis, the paper to be supported by mail order advertising. The scheme will result in failure. The free newspaper is of no more value, as an advertising medium, than a hand bill.

The town of Rock should be influenced in some way to become dry. The licenses granted to the saloons in South Janesville are a menace to the city. There is no regulation and Sunday is the gala day of the week. These saloons are a constant reminder of the fact that the business demands the most stringent regulation and are a sample of what a wide-open town would mean without a Sunday closing ordinance.

The storekeepers and drivers in Chicago, who went out on a sympathetic strike, the other day, have come back to work, under orders of the union to which they belonged. The employers claimed violation of contract, and the claim was sustained.

FAMOUS PIANIST TO PLAY AT FESTIVAL

Alexander Wurmberger Will Give Concert at Methodist Church—Other Evansville News.

Evansville, May 8.—The people of this community are to be given an opportunity, during the May festival of hearing one of the greatest piano artists in the west. Upon the earnest solicitation of music lovers of this city, Mr. Alexander Wurmberger, now of Sioux Falls, has consented to give one of his concerts here in the Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. Wurmberger has played successfully in Paris, Vienna, Berlin, Munich, Budapest and other European cities. He comes from a long line of study with the greatest living master of the piano, Leschetizky of Vienna, the teacher of Paderewski, Gubrilowitch and Panny Bloomfield Zolner, with all the enthusiasm of the student the temperament of the artist, a splendid repertoire and a masterly technique. Everybody should hear this, it will be one of the season's treats.

Damage by Lightning. Locke Pierce's house was struck by lightning Saturday night and damaged to some extent. On Monday night Mrs. George Fellows' house was struck and the chimney demolished. People sleeping in a house across the town hall park from Mrs. Fellows, were slightly shocked by the same bolt of lightning.

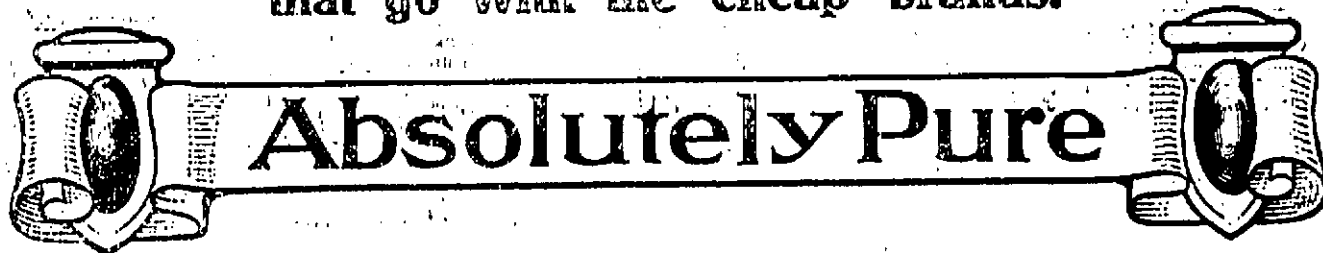

Local News. Mrs. Chas. Weaver is very sick. Rev. Father McDermott went to Crogon Tuesday to assist Rev. Father Condon with some clerical duties. Mr. and Mrs. Byron Campbell entertained their children and grandchildren and Mrs. T. A. Fox all of Madison Monday, the occasion being the celebration of W. B. Campbell's birthday. It was somewhat in the nature of a family reunion as all of their children and grandchildren were present. Bert Campbell having returned from the Chicago hospital, so much improved in health as to be able to unite with the others in the pleasures of this little home coming. The event was made most delightful by the host and hostess who know so well how to give their guests a happy day and who greatly enjoyed having their own little flock all under the old home roof on the anniversary of the birthday of their first born.

A man with an educated dog gave an amusing and interesting entertainment at the city school Monday, giving an hour to the high school and also one hour to the grades.

Miss Mabel Waddell of Saxtonville, is here for a visit with her brother, Prof. Waddell. Miss Roba Vincent of Broadhead, is visiting friends in Evansville. Peter Siverson who has been working for Fred Morrison, for several weeks, leaves Wednesday night to join his father in Canada. The Economy girls will have a picnic supper in the park this evening.

nelly accompanied her and will make her home with the McAtees.

George Morrison and family were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Roberts.

A Correction: It was Kenneth Parker and not Russell Parker who returned to the Howe School for Boys at Howe, Indiana, Tuesday.

Russell Parker is at present located at Roswell, New Mexico, where he is interested in irrigation and orchard culture.

The six Janesville boys were not expelled from the Howe school, but merely suspended, according to the statement of one of the parents. All but four of the two upper classes of the school, some sixty-six in all, took part in the trouble that caused their suspension and all were sent home.

Baby's Health Demands The Sturgis Go-Cart

The Luxury back and Luxury springs of the Sturgis are contained in no other cart. Luxury back means that while the old style go-cart had a wire or ball reaching across the handles to support the back of the cart, the STURGIS HAS NONE. The old ball back conveyed every jar and jolt of the pavement right to the head and back of the infant—the Sturgis wards off EVERY ONE of the jolts. The Luxury springs, under both front and rear of the seat, contribute to the easy riding of the carriage.

Your most critical inspection of these carriages is solicited. They are the best designed, best constructed and best finished perambulators which expert builders have yet conceived.

The Sturgis carriage with the new Luxury back is for an infant an added assurance of a robust manhood.

Sturgis carts from $5.50 to $22.00. They open and close with one motion.

About Corsets:

Perhaps you bought a new corset about holiday time — one that a friend recommended. You were delighted with it. Immediately you were several inches longer waisted. Your belts had to be taken in. Women complimented you on your trim, erect carriage. Then things began to happen — the corset began to curve out at the hip instead of sloping in a graceful line. The bones slipped up in the casings and the loose cloth crumpled into crosswise ridges that caused great discomfort. The corset felt too tight at the top and had stretched loose at the bottom. It began to "ride up" so that after a few hours of wear you were shorter waisted than when you first dressed. The corset may have been all right in itself, but it did not fit you. No good corset that fits perfectly will lose its shape, or slip, or feel uncomfortable after a few months wear. The thing is to get the corset that fits. One way is to try all the models of every make of corset. Another way is to consult with somebody who understands the needs of every type of figure and who has at command every good sort of corset made. The Big Store is about as well prepared to supply corset comfort as any store can be.

LOCAL RAILWAY MEN CALLED TO CHICAGO TO FIGHT STRIKERS

Agents Zimmermann and Hemmens Left For Chicago This Morning In Response to Orders.

Janesville railroad men were called to Chicago this morning by orders from headquarters received last night to take part in the strikebreaking campaign which began in that city yesterday against the freight handlers and checking clerks of twenty-one roads who walked out Saturday demanding increased wages.

P. W. Zimmermann, agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, and Alva L. Hemmens, agent for the Northwestern road, left in early trains this morning. Mr. Zimmermann received a dispatch from the Chicago office last night instructing him to come to Chicago on the first train this morning and to bring with him as many men as possible to work in the offices and warehouses. It was understood that Mr. Hemmens received similar orders.

Practically every railroad running to Chicago is affected by the strike. An ultimatum was issued by the companies yesterday that unless the strikers returned to work today they would be locked out. That it was expected that this would be disregarded by the strikers was evident from the orders calling in the agents and other assistance from the country near Chicago. The first strikebreakers went to work yesterday morning and were guarded by police. Many of the men were recruited from the east, and the efforts of the companies will be exerted to the fullest extent to continue business uninterrupted and to lock out the union men as they return to work under the old terms.

Mr. Zimmermann took several Janesville men to Chicago with him and Agent W. A. Johnson of the St. Paul road at Madison, formerly of this city, was also on the Chicago train leaving here at 7:20 with several men who had volunteered to join the strikebreaking contingent. It was understood that other agents of both roads at Beloit and at other points in this section had received similar orders.

Neither of the agents were certain as to what their exact duties would be, but it is probable that they will go into the freight offices as bill and checking clerks while their men will be employed in the yards and warehouses.

Green Bay Men Called.

Green Bay, Wis., May 8.—Otto Brendler, trainmaster of the St. Paul road, and a crew of men, left here yesterday for Chicago to aid in handling the freight in that city during the strike of the freight handlers.

No Violence.

Chicago, May 8.—Absence of violence continues a feature of the strike of 4,000 freight handlers affecting 24 of the 26 railroads entering this city. Acting on the advice of President F. J. Flannery of the freight handlers' union, the men are endeavoring to win their fight by peaceful methods.

THURSDAY'S MEETING MOST IMPORTANT ONE

Delegates to Coming State Convention of Eagles to be Elected on Thursday Evening.

Special attention is called to the regular meeting of the local Aerie of E. C. 12, for Thursday evening. Aside from the regular business of the evening the delegates from the local aerie to the state convention which meets here in June, will be elected. President J. C. Nichols also has something of importance to communicate to the members relative to the arrangements being perfected for the coming convention in the line of entertainment and other details which must be determined upon at once.

State President Toll, has reports from all the aeries in the state and reports that indications point to a banner crowd being here for the entire three days. The Milwaukee Aerie alone will come on two special trains on June 19th. They will return on the same evening but doubtless many will remain over until the close of the convention, the 21st. Judge J. C. Karl of the Milwaukee probate court, is president of the "On to Janesville" movement in Milwaukee and writes that there will be a big attendance.

The meeting Thursday evening will conclude with a special social session free to all members of the order. It promises to be an interesting affair and all members are earnestly requested to be present. The report of the finance committee, which is collecting funds for the big convention will also be made as well as reports of various other committees that have important matters in charge.

SIDE OF OLD MILL

JAMS AGAINST BRIDGE

Part of Building Which Fell into River Last Saturday Broke Away This Morning—Fire Department Called.

The outer wall and floors of the old planing mill that collapsed and fell into the river Saturday morning broke loose at about ten o'clock this morning while workmen were clearing away the wreckage, and was carried down stream by the powerful current to be jammed against the pier of the Milwaukee street bridge. It struck with such force that the bridge that received the brunt of the blow was crushed in. As the presence of the heavy wreckage in this position endangered the bridge steps were at once taken to remove it. The fire department was called and some of the firemen descended to the wreck with a ladder while others procured a boat. Holes were cut in the old wall and floor and two hawsers attached to a large willow tree on the east bank where block and tackle were used to pull them ashore and make them fast. They will be broken up as soon as possible. A large crowd lined the railings of the bridge, attracted by the unusual accident which had occurred—and the work of the firemen in a peculiar situation.

RACINE ST. BRIDGE NEARING COMPLETION

Abutments Complete Except for Balustrades and Waterproof Coating Being Put on Concrete Floor.

The Racine street bridge will be opened to traffic in about two weeks according to present indications. The last steps in its construction are now being taken. The abutments and wing walls are complete with the exception of the balustrades and an asphaltum waterproofing coat about a quarter of an inch thick is being spread over the concrete floor after the brick paving will be put down. Cement grout filler is to be used between the bricks. These have been on the ground since last fall. The wooden forms in which the floor and sidewalk were cast are being removed. The Fourth avenue bridge crew has been temporarily transferred to the Racine street bridge to assist in the work.

The sewer work on Rager avenue will be finished in a few days and the crew will then work south on Forest Park Boulevard for a block.

WOMAN'S PAGE

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

Where Are the Walls of the Modern Home?

It has been argued by those who are opposed to the advancement of women, though perhaps they do not phrase it quite so literally, that a woman's proper place is within the walls of her home. This has been the cry for many a year—a woman's activities should be bounded by the four walls of her domicile.

But today, where are the walls of the home? How far do they extend? What do they encompass?

Many of these conservatives who say that woman should always remain within the sheltering walls of the home fail to note that the walls of the home do not stand where once they stood, and that today, a woman may stay within the sheltering walls of the home and yet have a far wider domain in which to range, than formerly.

Formerly, nearly all the food of the family was supplied from within the four walls of the home, and was prepared under the eye of the careful house-mistress. The cows were the property of the family, they were milked by members of the family, the milk was cared for by the mistress and her maids, the butter and cheese were of their making.

Ham and bacon were cured in the family smokehouse, the barrels of salt pork in the cellar were of the family making, so was the sausage and scrapple, the jellies and preserves on the preserve-closet shelves, the mince pies in the pantry, the bread in the bread-box. In former days, the walls of the home enclosed all these activities. But today, if the walls of the home are to encompass these things, the walls must be extended to admit of woman's supervision of factories, to give her a voice in the regulation of the milk supply of a city. She must today take part in municipal house-keeping, if she is to be sure that the milk and meat and bread and butter on the family table are pure and nourishing. And she is no less a woman because she does this, nor is she really going beyond home walls to do it, if home walls do not stand for the actual building, but for what a home really means. In this age of expansion, the walls have moved and the home is bigger, that is all.

Formerly a child's education was largely a home matter. His A B C's were learned at his mother's knee. Frequently she instructed him in reading, spelling and a little arithmetic. Or if means permitted, there was a governess in the house. Even when the children went to school, the district school was a small affair, and the teacher usually boarded around in the families of her pupils. Education was not far removed from the mother's influence.

Now, today, the schools are in politics, as everybody knows; at any rate, they are quite a distance from our old-time notion of the walls of the home. If the mother wants to have a voice in the public education of her children, she needs to help elect school-directors, possibly be a director herself. So here again, the walls of the home moved outward and enclosed larger spaces than formerly.

In many other ways has this extension gone on. Whoever heard in days gone by of juvenile courts and public playgrounds and such movements that are a part of the vital life of today. Changing conditions make them necessary and these changing conditions make it just as necessary that woman have a part in the management of these movements, if she is still to look after the interests of the home. The walls of the home have simply been moved to enclose larger areas. These activities are all home activities. Only, we are commencing to see that the word "home" is defined in a larger sense than it used to be. We are beginning to learn that humanity is one big family. And that for the best welfare of that family, women must help in all that concerns it.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

By Henrietta D. Grauel

The following recipes are suggested for use in the kitchen. They are old-fashioned, but they are good. They are old-fashioned, but they are good. They are old-fashioned, but they are good.

Cauliflower, steamed, covered with butter sauce and baked in gratin.

Cod and oyster pie—Place the fish and add the scalloped oyster. Cover with a rich white sauce. Keep hot until baking powder biscuits are done. Split the biscuits open, place on individual serving plates, and cover with the cream mixture. Or serve in pastry shells.

Play cutlets, with tomato sauce; codfish tongues braised in butter, served in patties; codfish roe with Normandy sauce, fish croquettes, and ter, shiner until the juice is almost evaporated, and the tomatoes becoming dry. Then break in the eggs and stir briskly until set. These may be served in cases.

Oyster plant or salad may be made into fritters, croquettes, or patties and served with white sauce or with cheese sauce.

Salmon, fresh or canned, is a delicacy whether made into an omelet, or scalloped, or served with rice and curry sauce, or with cheese sauce.

Salmon, fresh or canned, is a delicacy whether made into an omelet, or scalloped, or served with rice and curry sauce, or with cheese sauce.

If you have read this far without finding some suggestion that sounded attractive, suppose you try an Italian combination of oysters and macaroni. Break the macaroni in inch lengths and drop into rapidly boiling salted water. Keep boiling briskly twenty minutes, then drain. Steam the oysters and save their liquor. Put the oysters and macaroni into a baking dish in alternative layers. Make a sauce with the oyster liquor, egg yolks and thickened milk and pour this over the contents of the dish and bake.

Macaroni is well called a meat substitute. It combines well with all meats and fish and is rapidly taking the place of potatoes on many American tables.

Baked, drained and mixed with fish flakes, covered with white sauce and baked, is excellent, but with tomatoes it is still better. If you have veal or chicken stock, cook the macaroni tender, in it, drain, and mix with chopped, partly cooked, tomatoes. Season and grate on cheese. Dot over with bits of butter and bake until the cheese is melted.

The flavor of the cheese has much to do with the goodness of this dish. It should be sharp without being strong; hard, but not hard. The fish flakes, however, their own cheese. It is easily compared with our brands, but only a little is required.

The KITCHEN CABINET

When a bit of sunshine hits ya, After passing of a cloud, Don't let it be a feeling proud, Don't let it be a feeling proud, At the end of the day, blue, For the night that you sleep it, It's a blessing to you.

—Capt. Jack Crawford.

HELPFUL HINTS.

When preparing a meat loaf to eat in slices when cold, put in two or three hard cooked eggs, arranging them so that when sliced they will add to its appearance.

A pretty table decoration for a yellow luncheon is made of yellow roses made from the peeling of oranges rolled up and fastened with a toothpick at the bottom, very much like the silk and ribbon roses so much in vogue for dress decoration.

When coffee is spilled on a silk or satin gown, use pure glycerine rubbed over the spot and afterward rinsed off with lukewarm water and pressed on the wrong side. All trace of the coffee will have disappeared.

Save your wooden meat skewers, to use in cleaning windows and corners when the cloth or brush will not reach.

House Cleaning Don'ts.—Don't tear up more than one room at a time in cleaning, and have that in order when the head of the house comes home. There is nothing more desolate, especially to a person not taking part, than a room in a state of upheaval.

Don't undertake more than a day's work at a time, as tomorrow will surely come, and if it doesn't, who cares if the house isn't cleaned.

Don't lumber your home with useless and dust-gathering bric-a-brac. If your friends will give it to you, pass it on to those who have more time to dust it.

Don't get so deep into house cleaning that you can't enjoy the delicious spring days and the first bird songs.

Don't buy upholstered furniture, but simple, comfortable, easy-to-dust articles.

Nellie Maxwell.

Fads and Fashions

New York, May 7.—The weather is still far from being summery, but fashion, as usual, is ahead of the season and everywhere, in the shops and on the promenade warm weather costumes are plentifully in evidence. It looks very much as if the coming summer season would be characterized by a great popularity of white.

White serge, white whorl and white buckram cord are all favorite materials for the tailored costume and the one-piece frock and there are innumerable open-work and loose woven white weaves ranging from rough and heavy to fine and light, which make up delightfully. A flax weave in white wool, such as appeared last season in linen and is again modish in linen this spring, is combined very successfully with plain white broad cloth or serge. In one costume, the short, loose coat was almost entirely of flax weave material, with silk, soft, unstiffened collar, cuffs, border and pockets of fine white cloth. The skirt was of cloth with a wide label band of the flax.

Coat and skirt suits of white cotton or of linen rather in the imported grades are among the smartest of the white tub suits, though, like the lin-

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

YOU CAN'T ALWAYS SOMETIMES TELL.

IF THERE is any one situation to which the excellent maxim "You can't always sometimes tell" is more thoroughly pertinent than to any other, it is to other folks' quarrels and family disagreements.

"I do think Gertrude is terribly disagreeable and unjust to her sister," I heard one girl say of another. "Why, the other day Gertrude snatched her sister up because she made some little statement that wasn't exactly accurate. And she's just as sweet and nice; I can't see what made Gertrude so hateful to her."

Of course, this self-appointed critic couldn't see what made Gertrude so hateful. How should she be able to? She has never lived with the sister, doesn't know how trying her habit of loose and inaccurate statements has become, how irritating it is to hear her talk fluently about matters of which she knows absolutely nothing.

That's just the trouble with all our snap judgments of other people's family disagreements. We see the result of innumerable little causes without seeing more than one or two of these causes.

"Mrs. So-and-so is terribly impatient with her husband," we say. "Why, the other day he was fifteen minutes late to dinner and she would hardly speak to him all through the meal," or "Mr. Such-and-such is so strict with his daughter. He doesn't believe in company and he wouldn't even let her have her college room mate to spend a week with her."

Now, that certainly sounds as if Mrs. So-and-so and Mr. Such-and-such were very unreasonable people. But in each case we have criticized a result without taking into account more than one of the innumerable little causes which stood behind that result.

It was not because Mr. So-and-so was late for dinner that one day that his wife was so indignant. It was because his tardiness that day was but one manifestation of his habit of needless tardiness to meals which has made her housework harder all her married life.

It was not merely against this one visit that Mr. Such-and-such protested. It was against that as the culmination of a series of visits which had been trying out the little wife and mother.

It is the whole load which breaks the camel's back. We criticize the camel because we only see the last straw.

In the close corporation of family life there are many conditions which an outsider cannot possibly appreciate. If you are a friend of the source deal in thought and word, as well as in action, do not try to judge of such matters. Remember that "You can't always sometimes tell" is a most excellent maxim.

can, they are nowadays more likely to go to the cheaper than the expensive. The material, in good quality, is firm enough to tailor admirably and keep its shape well, and it does not wrinkle so readily as do most of the linens. One of the fashionable shops is showing some excellent models of this class with a dash of color introduced in cuffs and collar of similar material but of white and colored stripes. The same firm has a good looking model of the white tulle with tiny diagonal plissings of colored lines in white and color bordering belt, pockets, collar, cuffs, etc.

This rough material is combined with the sheers of cotton marquisette, cotton crepes and linens, and some fascinating little costumes combine the tulle in soft pink or of buff or blue with creamy white sheer material. A white ground with narrow black stripes at quarter or half inch intervals is liked in the tulle and falls attractively.

When it comes to sheer white one is confronted by an endless variety of charming things, nets, marquisettes, crepes, mulls, satines, linens, fine cotton voile chiffons, silk mousselines, gauzes etc. And in each of these materials there are innumerable variations of weaves and designs.

Border effects of every imaginable kind are introduced in these sheer white stuffs. Some are merely woven or printed designs in white. Others combine inset lace and embroidery. Still others show a figured material with plain or horizontal striped border, and all of these last durable materials are popular this season of tulle and triple and double skirt arrangements.

Frequently a little tulle coat accompanies a skirt made from some one of the sheer white materials, and though not all of these costumes are pretty, the idea when skillfully worked out is a good one. A loose, short bolero or tunic, quite devoid of undergarment or overgarment opening down the sides instead of the front and belted snugly are all worn, but the cutaway, with or without a girdle, is the shape most often seen and most frequently successful, though it is, too, the shape most used for the cheaper kinds of models.

The sharpness with which the fronts slope away varies greatly, as does the point at which the cutaway line begins, and the effect upon the figure must be carefully studied in choosing any of these models. But where the hips of the wearer are slender such a little coat as the girdled cutaway in one of its various forms is very pretty and attractive in connection with a skirt of the finer material, chiffon and lace or some other pretty combination.

The milliners are doing interesting things with the new Jany printed materials and with the hairline check tulle. Fascinating little skirts and ensembled hats are made of the soft silks and muslins and trims of such of plain color. One such hat, new in Jany muslin had all around the crown tiny, pretty little bows of narrow, pleated edged ribbon, no two bows of the same color, but all toning in wonderfully with each other and with the muslin.

Of course, these benefits are not for all faces and most women should shun the point, so evident in the new models, but the things are charming in themselves, and still more charming when worn by the exceptional woman whom they suit to perfection.

There is no doubt that, notwithstanding all predictions to the contrary, blouses will be as popular as ever during the coming season. There are many interesting novelties shown in blouses, the most aggressive of these being the peplum blouse. In real flax and hand embroidered muslin there are some beautiful blouses of this class. The peplum may consist merely of rounded or square tabs in front or back. It may form little cutaway basques, or it may run down the sides over the hips and out at the waist and back. These white blouses are at their best over white skirts and leave much to be desired when worn with dark skirts which have no definite relation to the blouse in trimmings.

Blouses of similar lines but fashioned of silk and chiffon are more practical for wear with dark costumes and the importers have brought over models of this sort in most of the popular colorings. Some of these have a beautiful jumper arrangement in one tone of chiffon, with sleeves and trimmings of another tone, the peplum being in the color of the skirt with which it is to be worn. The jumper, too, is suggested by certain belted or girdled overblouses of silk, opening down the shoulder and under arm, made with peplums straight across front and back but rounding up at the sides, and worn over underblouses of chiffon in the same tone or of cream net or lingerie materials.

Attractive blouses of tulle in changeable colorings are made with straight peplum, narrow patent leather belt and bust folds of white cotton tulle on each side of the front. Collar and cuffs are also of the white rough material and the blouse has a tailored smartness that is quite attractive.

Seamly blouses placed flatly on a narrow foundation skirt are seen on many fingerie frocks, as well as on silks and voiles, and are one of the features of the new season.

Dr. Czerny of Heidelberg, an authority on cancer, says that no remedy for cancer is certain, although cancerous growths are occasionally checked and overcome. He recommends the simple life as the surest way to prevent cancer. He advises scrupulous cleanliness and the avoidance of rich foods. Great efforts are being made to discover a remedy that will eradicate the tumor. This, however, is only the local manifestation of the disease, and while it becomes a source of injury, as the tuberculosis in the lungs do, in consumption, yet constitutional treatment, chiefly, must be relied upon, and as in consumption the best cure is prevention.

Wash your clothes with

GOLD DUST

Good soap washes clothes well—if you use enough elbow grease; but Gold Dust washes them more thoroughly—and with little or no rubbing. Gold Dust saves half your time, and spares your poor back.

Another great advantage of Gold Dust—use any kind of water you like. Gold Dust softens the hardest water, and makes it soft as rain water.

Gold Dust is just a vegetable-oil soap in powdered form, with other cleansing ingredients added to make it work more thoroughly and quickly than soap ever can.

*Just try Gold Dust next wash-day, and see how much time you save.

Gold Dust is sold in 50 size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work!"

Baking's a Joy with CALUMET BAKING POWDER

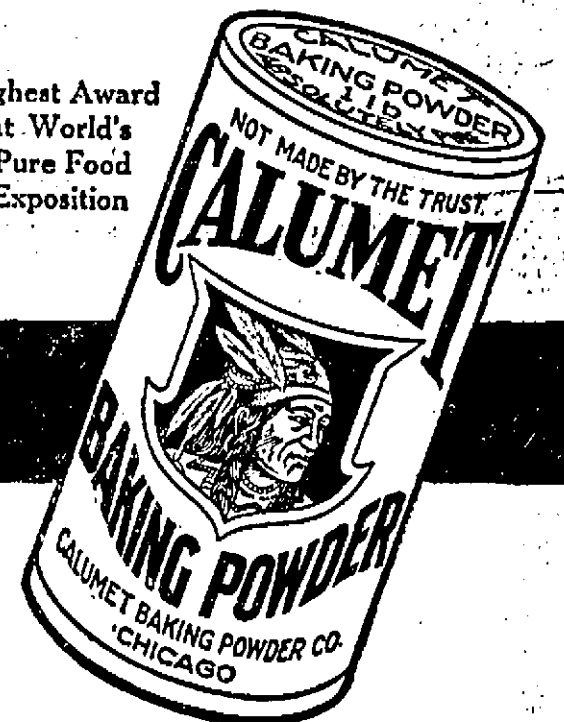

"Baking day" becomes a day of smiles, when you use Calumet. A day of smiles for you and for the rest of the family, too.

You'll be delighted because Calumet is so unfailing in its results. You'll not have one baking ruined—not one batch of materials wasted—but every baking will come from the oven fluffy and tasty and evenly raised.

And then—the best test of all—watch the smiles when your Calumet bakings go on the table. The whole family will appreciate the difference that Calumet makes—the fluffier, daintier biscuits and rolls—the tempting pies and pastries—the piping hot and appetizing griddle cakes.

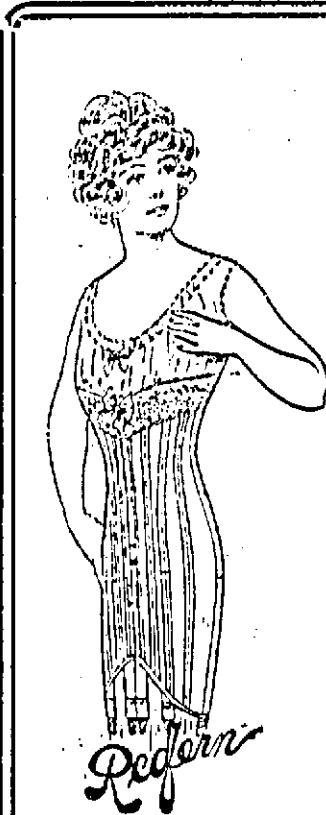

Always insist on Calumet. Your grocer has it—or can get it if you'll refuse substitutes.

WEATHER EXTREMES
AND SEVERE STORMS

Foster Predicts Series of Disturbances
Continuing for Several Months

—Rest of May Cooler.

(Copyrighted 1912 by W. T. Foster.)
Last bulletin gave forecast of disturbances to cross country May 3 to 7 and 8 to 12, warm waves May 2 to 6 and 7 to 11, cool waves May 5 to 9 and 10 to 14. The period of ten days covered by these disturbances was expected to average unusually warm and dry with showers only in a few localities and to be followed by a cool wave May 10 to 15 that will carry the frost line further south than usual.

We are and have been, since first of January, driving toward the great planet Jupiter, with great speed and for that reason it was long ago announced in these bulletins that great storms and unusual weather events were to be expected during 1912. No very true weather is to be expected. One extreme will follow another and these extremes will continue for several months but will be of another kind after we pass the great planet May 31.

About the time we pass Jupiter great electric storms are expected that will disturb telephone, telegraph and wireless messages. But we have not yet learned to locate these and tornadoes that are caused by Jupiter about every twelve years. Some day these will be definitely timed and located just as I am timing and locating the sun spots.

Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about May 12, cross Pacific slope by close of 13, great central valleys 14 to 16, eastern sections 17. Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about May 12, great central valleys 14, eastern sections 16. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about May 15, great central valleys 17, eastern sections 19.

Severe storms, cooler than usual and not much rain are the principal weather features expected to accompany this disturbance. Showers are expected preceding the warm wave in sections where I have predicted rains for May. All readers of these bulletins should preserve my monthly forecasts of monthly average temperatures and total rainfall for each section. These are given in last or next to last bulletin of each month for the month following.

Balance of May is expected to average cooler than usual with an increase of rainfall during the last week. Farmers and dealers who have grain on hand that they want to sell would better wait till they use my next weather bulletin. So much wheat was winter killed that farmers are preparing to put in a greater acreage of corn and oats than usual and this has a tendency to depress prices although market prices already appear to be high.

The forces that bring our weather changes are now so unusually great that the changes are not coming quite as early as my calculations indicated. The weather is following the program I had marked out but a little behind my dates and little more rapid and extended than I have indicated.

Some time ago I published that the great strikes would not continue long and that their ending would enhance prices, especially of cotton. I was right about it, but of course that was a guess and based on my general knowledge of affairs as a newspaper man and general reader, not on my supposed planetary influences on the minds of the "races of men." I know nothing about that question. The conditions of government and political affairs often have a controlling influence on great bodies of men and therefore every patriotic citizen should carefully study these matters. A good newspaper controlled by good intentions, is the noblest work of our times and therefore I prefer the prefix "Mr." instead of "Professor" and to be classed as a newspaper man instead of an orthodox scientist.

TOWN LINE

Town Line, May 6.—Mrs. Mary Kollogg, a former resident of this place, had a sad experience last Friday while going from Beloit to Afton on the 11 o'clock passenger on the C. & N. W. R. R., accompanied by her uncle, Mr. W. E. Lake, an old gentleman about seventy-five years old. Mr. Lake was apparently as well as usual when he boarded the train at Beloit. About a mile from the station Mrs. Kollogg addressed a remark to him when she discovered that he had passed away. Heart failure being the cause of his death. Mrs. Kollogg had

Coffee Hurt You?

No need to get mad now, tear up the paper or shout "nonsense, good coffee never hurt anyone."

You know better than that, for you can point out, all around you, folks who are the worse for coffee's slugging. Think over a few coffee-drinking friends and casually inquire if they are entirely and perfectly well and just how coffee treats them.

If it hurts others, isn't it just possible?

Always Tired, With Little Vitality

Modern Tonic, Tona Vita, Will Surely Build You Up Again.

Are you one of the run-down, half sick nervous people with which the country is filled? Do you feel tired all the time with very little vitality? Do you sleep badly and feel as worn out in the morning as when you went to bed? Is your circulation poor and do you catch cold easily? Have you stomach trouble and an irregular appetite? Are you nervous, moody and depressed?

These are sure symptoms of nervous debility. If you are struggling along in this miserable condition the best thing you can possibly do for yourself is to take "Tona Vita" the wonderful new tonic that has the unqualified endorsement of more physicians than any other medicine ever before offered to the public.

Here is what the Rev. Gustave Frederic, pastor of the Evangelical church, Center Street, Milwaukee, Wis., has to say of it.

"Judging from my own experience I do not hesitate to say that 'Tona Vita' is an extremely valuable preparation. I have not only used it myself, but other members of the family have been taking it with highly satisfactory results.

"So far as my own case is concerned I have been in a run-down condition for a year or so, tired, nervous and being troubled with sleeplessness. I lacked vitality and caught cold readily, and my digestion and appetite were poor. I was depressed in mind and body and very nervous.

"I now feel stronger than for a long time. I have more energy and my work is done with much less effort. I sleep and eat better and feel as though rejuvenated."

Tona Vita acts quickly. You will be surprised how rapidly it will build you up.

Smith Drug Co., have the agency for Tona Vita in Janesville, and will return the purchase price if not entirely satisfactory. The Approved Formula Co., Dayton, O.

CROP FIGURES SEND PRICES SOARING ON THE CHICAGO MARKET

Government Shows That There Will be a Shortage of 94,000 Bushels of Wheat.

Wheat Crop Losses.

Cushels.
Winter wheat crop 370,714,000
Loss in April 94,000,000
Loss from last year 60,000,000
Loss in central states 70,000,000
Gain in Southwest 40,000,000
The price of flour advanced 20 cents a barrel yesterday as the result of the government crop report on winter wheat issued yesterday afternoon, and still further advances are expected daily until flour and wheat will be held at higher prices than at any time since 1901.

The report suggests a crop of 370,000,000 bushels, a decrease of 94,
000,000 from the April report and a reduction of 60,000,000 bushels from the final returns last year.

Harvest Winter Is the Cause.
It was the smallest winter wheat crop since 1901 when it was 325,000, 000 bushels. The losses are due entirely to the past severe winter when the wheat plant was subjected to unusual freezing and thawing. A drop to below zero early last November, followed by a thaw and a freeze before the heavy snows came, killed the plant and it has been showing the effects in the last thirty days of growing weather.

There has been a loss of the most sensational character that the country has known since last fall, 6,499,000 acres, or 20.1 per cent from the 32, 213,000 acres seeded last fall, leaving 25,714,000 acres for harvest. The condition of nearly one point in the last thirty days, and compared with 85.1
last month and a ten year average of 85.2.

Largest Losses in Central States.
A feature of the crop losses is that they are the largest in the central winter wheat states of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, which do not promise much more than 25 per cent of a crop.

Their combined yield, estimated on the government figures, is 37,000,000 bushels or 76,000,000 bushels less than harvested last year. Part of this loss however, is offset by a good prospect for the remaining acreage west of the Missouri river, as Kansas has a condition of 80 and the promise of around 80,000,000 bushels, and Texas and Oklahoma have the best prospects for 10,000,000 bushels and Kansas of 30, 000,000 bushels more than last year, a total for the two winter of 46,000,000 bushels in excess last year.

There is a good prospect on the North Pacific coast, but it will take an advance to a high figure in Chicago to bring the Pacific coast wheat east of the Rockies owing to the high rate of freight.

Spring Seeding Is Late.
In the spring wheat states of the Northwest the seeding is late and a decrease of 5 per cent is expected to be shown in the average. Allowing for a spring wheat crop of 200,000,000 bushels on the present basis of the 370,000,000 bushels winter, it means a crop of 570,000,000 bushels for all wheat, or only enough for domestic requirements.

It is expected by the crop experts that with the large amount of moisture in the soil in nearly all sections of the agricultural regions that the crop prospects will, under normal conditions from now on, show an improvement, but with the reduced acreage it is impossible to bring the yield up enough to more than supply deficiencies and the Chicago market will be the sufferer as the greatest crop losses are in the territory from which the largest supplies of red winter wheat are drawn.

Wheat Advances 20 Cents.
In the last thirty days wheat prices have advanced nearly 20 cents a bushel and May sold yesterday at $1.18. In the pattern year of 1909 the price in May went up to $1.35. This year's crop is much shorter than in the pattern year. A. J. Lieberman, who has been loaded up with 9,000,000 bushels cash wheat and 15,000,000 bushels or more of May has come out a big winner as a result of the extensive crop damage, when prospects sixty days ago were for enormous losses. July wheat yesterday touched $1.14 3/4, the highest price in four years.

According to Uncle Abner.

There is some hope for everybody in this day and age. When everything else fails they can read up the almanac a bit and get into vande-

had to get a bigger wagon so as to carry H's mail to him.

I see by the papers that Mr. Taft is not sure of his supporters. A following is surely in a bad way when he can't put confidence in his sup-

Here They Come.

A gorgeous thing in frills and lace,
A beautiful, well appointed face,
A sweetening smile that awakens all
The carpet auditors in the hall,
As down the stairs in perfect time
And proudly steps, serene, sublime,
She leans upon the arm of age.

Admired by debutants and sage;
A hundred necks are craned to view
The picture and pay homage due,
She rules a queen without a throne,
Unto the strains of Mendelssohn.
The crowd bows as it hears the tune
And grovels to the bride of June.

Messrs. J. N. Emminger and P. J.
Willing had business in Janesville Tuesday.

Mrs. W. Aydelotte of Sullivan, Ind., was the guest of Mesdames Mann boot.

Stands as an invited guest Alone, apart from all the rest.
A thing forlorn, without a friend
In homelike respect to bend.
At him nobody seeks to stare.

In fact, nobody knows he's there.
He has the smallest part to play
Of any in the cast that day.
His speaking line he's learned clear through.

He simply has to say: "I do"
Important as the court buffoon.
He's nothing but the groom of June.

A Pastor was expounding the truth
Sunday with a good deal of vehemence and was constantly interrupted in front of the church. As the doors were open the remarks of the horse were painfully audible. At the termination of every sentence of the sermon the horse could be heard.
"What's the matter with that horse?" whispered a wife to her husband, "why does he make that awful racket after every sentence of the sermon?" "That horse," replied the husband, "is simply voicing a protest
by saying, 'Neh, neh, neh!'"

People Whom We All Know.

The young person who plays the piano just beautifully but has to be tensed. Along at first you are afraid she is going to stop playing and in about an hour you are afraid she won't.

The old gentleman in the next block who remembers a spring that was colder than this one has been.
The woman who opens every conversation this way: "When I was in New York the last time—"

The youth who has just turned down a very lucrative position because his folks didn't want him to leave home.

The newly married couple who decide to live with papa and mamma to keep the latter from being lonesome.

Swan and T. A. Klugman, and returned home on Tuesday.

Steve Branger was here from Sullivan, Ind., to visit with relatives.

Brig. Gen. Brush to Retire.

Washington, D. C., May 8.—Brig.
Gen. Daniel H. Brush, who was recently relieved from command of the Department of California at his own request, will be placed on the retired list tomorrow on account of age. Gen.
Brush has the distinction of being the only General now in the army who served in the civil war, having been a private in an Illinois regiment in 1864.

MILTON CLUBS HOST TO MISS ZONA GALE

Wisconsin Authors Addressed
Women's Clubs Yesterday and Delightful Program Was Enjoyed.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, May 8.—The Women's Village Improvement club of this village and the Fortnightly club of Milton Junction held a union session at the S. D. H. church yesterday and it was a real letter day for the two organizations. The feature event was the presence of Miss Zona Gale, the Wisconsin authoress, who captivated her hearers when she read an unpublished chapter of "Friendship Village Tales," which is to appear in an early number of Everybody's magazine, and gave a talk on interesting subjects for club study.

The club program was opened by Mrs. W. E. Rogers at the organ. Miss Arlene Jordan gave a violin solo, accompanied by Miss Ruth Davis. Mrs.
Lillian Hume gave a vocal solo. Mrs.
A. F. Hote of Monroe gave a short talk, and Miss Gertrude Hemmingsway of Janesville a pleasing reading. Rex Harlock of Milton Junction gave a solo and President W. C. Dahand closed with an organ recital.

After the regular program Miss Gale and Mrs. Lovejoy made remarks upon the subject of "Equal Suffrage," the latter soliciting members for the Political Equality club of Janesville.
Visitors in attendance were: Mrs.
Hote, Monroe; Mesdames J. B. Day

and A. P. Lovejoy of Janesville; Mrs.
J. N. Humphrey, Whitewater; Miss
Hemmingsway, Janesville; Mesdames David Brown and Peter Traynor of Koshkonong; Miss P. Coon of Whitworth.

Luncheon was served at 12:30 and light refreshments at the close of the exercise.

Forget the Other Fellow.
We are always playing too much for our own hand in life.—Exchange.

Escapes an Awful Fate.

A thousand tongues could not express the gratitude of Mrs. J. E. Cox, of Joliet, Ill., for her wonderful deliverance from an awful fate. "Typhoid pneumonia had left me with a dreadful cough," she writes. "Sometimes I had such awful coughing spells I thought I would die. I could get no help from doctor's treatment or other medicines till I used Dr. King's New Discovery. But I owe my life to this wonderful remedy for I scarcely cough at all now." Quick and safe is the most reliable of all throat and lung medicines. Every bottle guaranteed, 50c, and $1.00. Trial bottle
free at People's Drug Co.

A Reliable Hair Tonic.

It is an easy matter to prevent baldness, dandruff and other diseases of the scalp by using Morrill Hair Tonic.
It should be used regularly to keep the scalp free of dandruff germs, as these germs are the cause of the majority of cases of dandruff and later, baldness. We are authorized to guarantee Morrill Hair Tonic.

Who Will Get a Pedalmobile Free

Boys Are Getting Busy

You Can Have
One Too

The next thing to the racing model automobile is the Pedalmobile. It's a handy machine and will be the means of giving many a boy hours of pleasure such as only the owner of a Pedalmobile can know. Hundreds of boys have visited the Gazette office to inspect the Pedalmobiles on exhibition there. They all admire and want to own one and many of them are already actively in-the field.

If You Want Your Pedalmobile It's Time Now to Start Work

A few days' hustle and you have earned the finest machine you ever owned. You'll be proud of it, too. Several boys have a good start already; they have secured names of people who wish to take the Gazette and who are not now subscribers.

Don't Let the Other Fellows Beat You In This Subscription Race

Cut out the application blank and bring it or send it to the Gazette office at once for full instructions.

Detailed Description of the Wonderful Car

Length of body 66 inches, wheel base 50 inches, 16-inch steel wheels with 3 1/2-inch rubber tires, tread of wheels 2 1/2 inches; best material that can be bought used throughout;
body made of steel and second-growth ash, giving at once "spring" and strength. It is a real vehicle—not a toy—and will hold a grown man's weight. The big racing hood is sheet steel, has slanting racing seat, giving driver real racing position; has real automobile steering wheel of wood and white metal. One Big Feature is the knuckle steering gear. The front wheels turn in response to the steering wheel just as do the front wheels of a real automobile, the axle being stationary. This eliminates danger of upsetting on curves.

Have You Money To Invest?

IF YOU have, why not follow the lead of Savings Banks and invest it in Municipal Bonds?
Such an investment is safer than a mortgage on a farm, safer than a bank account, and besides being as safe as a Government Bond, Municipal Bonds are worth twice as much in the interest paid.

Let us explain. For instance, your town (or any city, town or village) wishes to raise money with which to build a bridge, water works, etc. To secure the money to pay for the public improvement the town issues bonds for the sum required. These bonds (Municipal Bonds) are then sold for cash and in order to guarantee the purchaser the repayment of the loan on the bonds issued and interest thereon, the municipality pledges its taxes for a certain number of years.
This insures prompt payment of both interest and principal,
for the credit and resources of the whole town are irrevocably pledged to pay the full amount of the debt with interest within the specified time as stated in this Bond.

There's absolutely no chance to lose money on this form of investment—there's no other safe investment that pays a high rate of interest which is every reason why you should invest your savings in Municipal Bonds. Some Municipal Bonds, like those listed below, are issued under the auspices or supervision of the U. S. Government. These bonds are exempt from taxation and for this reason are eagerly sought after by shrewd investors. The following unsold portions of Tax Free Bonds pay a high percentage of interest. We ask you to write us regarding them.

These bonds, being exempt from taxation, can be converted into cash very quickly should the occasion require, or if the holder wishes to change the form of investment.

We also carry a wide range of Public Improvement, Funding, Refunding and School and Road District Bonds, in denominations to satisfy any requirement. These bonds yield 4 1/2% to nearly 6% steady interest. Ask us about them.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, May 8, 1872.
 "Non Explosive." A lamp filled with "non-explosive" petroleum burning fluid exploded last night at the residence of R. M. Wheeler, on Third street, severely burning Mrs. C. C. Seefeld and damaging a piano and other articles of furniture. The lamp was standing upon the piano and as Mrs. Seefeld approached the explosion took place igniting her clothing and before she knew could be extinguished by the other members of the household, her limbs, hands and portions of her body were badly scorched. We understand that her injuries are not considered dangerous. Mrs. Seefeld has but recently come to this city from Milwaukee, and her husband, who is a traveling agent for a Milwaukee house, was in Madison at the time the accident occurred. He arrived in town this morning in response to a telegram.

All Dead: Perhaps some of last winter's legislators will be happy to learn that the Rock county poor house breed of bad bugs has been exterminated. Scum, but water, paint and general repairs about the building have caused them to release their hold upon life and pass in their clutches. The visiting committee needn't come this fall. Everything is lovely at the poor house.

Brief Items.
 Wheat reached one dollar and forty cents per bushel on the market today, the highest figure it has reached for three years.

It has been suggested that Janesville should favor itself with a Fourth of July celebration this year. Inasmuch as we have had nothing of the sort since 1865 there can be no question as to the propriety of the affair.

Several of the hotels near the depot are removing their stocks of liquor. The new liquor law has something to do with this sudden attack of morality.

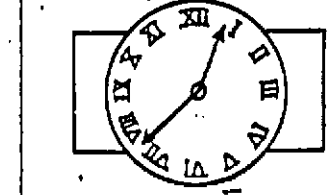

Mr. Goid's horse ran away on the West Side today, breaking the wagon to which it was attached.

"Well, well; it gets me how that worm ever dug his way into this solid stuff."

TODAY'S RIDDLE

WHAT FACES ARE THE MOST STRIKING TO LOOK AT?
 (ANSWER)
 A clock face.

Great Men's Idiosyncrasies.
 Oliver Goldsmith, poet, historian and essayist, persistently argued that he ate his dinner by the moving of his upper jaw. Dr. Johnson believed in ghosts and second sight. Archbishop Laud had faith in dreams, counted the drops of blood that fell from his nose, giving importance to the number, and was, according to Macaulay, "a silly old dotard."

Helps A Judge In Bad Fix.
 Justice Eli Cherry, of Gillis Mills, Tenn., was plainly worried. A bad case on his list baffled several doctors and long resisted all remedies. "I thought it was a cancer," he wrote. "At last I used Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and was completely cured. Cures burns, boils, ulcers, cuts, bruises and piles. 25 cents at People's Drug Co."

BY WALT MASON

At this season man's afflicted with a score of grievous ills, and he's frequently addicted to the use of costly pills; or he buys some bottled liquor made of bark and buds and leaves, and it makes him all the sicker, till his soul within him grieves.

There's a cure for the REMEDY human creatures, there's a balm to heal them all; let them sit upon the bleachers, sit, and watch the boys play ball. Pity him who whines and whines over every little ill; if he broad o'er our ailments, they will grow until they kill; let our ailments be forgotten while we search for fun or fame, and they'll find their job

As it is in China.

Final respect is the foundation of DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—Anyway why should Father walk when he is paying for a Moving-van.

The Wreck of the Titan

By Morgan Robertson

He heard a rushing sound and, looking for it, saw in the opposite direction a formless object as much darker than the gray of the fog as the flame was brighter, and it, too, was growing larger and coming. And it seemed to him that this light and darkness were the good and evil of his life, and he watched to see which would reach him first, but felt no surprise or regret when he saw that the darkness was nearest. It came closer, and closer until it brushed him on the side.

"What have we here, Rowland?" said a voice. Instantly the whirling points were blotted out, the universe of gray changed to the fog, the dome of light to the moon rising above it and the shapeless darkness to the form of the first officer. The little white figure, which had just darted past the three watchers, stood at his feet. As though warned by an inner subconsciousness of danger, it had come in its sleep for safety and care to its mother's old lover—the strong and the weak, the degraded and disgraced, but exalted; the persecuted, drugged and all but helpless John Rowland.

"With the readiness with which a man who does while standing will answer the question that wakens him he said, though he staggered from the now waning effect of the drug, "Myra's child, sir; it's asleep." He picked up the nightgown little girl, who screamed as she awakened, and folded his penknives around the cold little body.

"Who is Myra?" asked the officer in a bullying tone, in which were also chagrin and disappointment. "You've been asleep yourself."

Before Rowland could reply a shout from the crew's nest split the air. "Ice!" yelled the lookout. "Ice ahead! Iceberg! Right under the bows!" The first officer ran amidships, and the captain, who had remained there, sprang to the engine room telegraph, and this time the lever was turned. But in five seconds the bow of the Titan began to lift, and ahead and on either hand could be seen through the fog a field of ice, which rose in an incline to a hundred feet high in her track. The music in the theater ceased, and among the babel of shouts and cries and the deafening noise of steel scraping and crashing over ice Rowland heard the agonized voice of a woman crying from the bridge steps: "Myra, Myra, where are you? Come back."

CHAPTER IV.

The Titan and the Iceberg.

FIFTY-FIVE thousand tons, dead weight, rushing through the fog at the rate of fifty feet a second, had buried itself in an iceberg. Had the impact been received by a perpendicular wall the elastic resistance of bending plates and frame would have overcome the momentum with no more damage to the passengers than a severe spanking up and to the ship than the crushing in of her bows and the killing, to a man, of the water below. She would have buckled off and, slightly down by the head, dashed the voyage at reduced speed, to rebuild on insurance money and benefit largely in the end by the consequent advertising of her indestructibility. But a low beach, possibly formed by the recent overturning of the bow, received the Titan, and with her keel cutting the ice like the steel runner of an iceboat and her great weight resting on the starboard bilge she rose out of the sea, higher and higher, until the propellers in the stern were half exposed; then, meeting an easy, spiral rise in the ice under her port bow, she heeled, overbalanced and crashed down on her side to starboard.

The holding down bolts of twelve boilers and three triple expansion engines, unintended to hold such weights from a perpendicular flooring, snapped, and down through a mass of ladders, grating and fore and aft bulkheads came these giant masses of steel and iron, puncturing the sides of the ship, even where backed by solid, retreating ice, and filling the engine and boiler rooms with scalding steam, which brought a quick though tortured death to each of the hundred men on duty in the engineer's department.

Amid the terrifying roar of escaping steam and the boisterous buzzing of agonized screams and callings from within the inclosing walls, and the whistling of air through hundreds of open daylight as the water, entering the holes of the crushed and risen starboard side, expelled it, the Titan moved slowly backward and launched herself into the sea, where she floated low on her side—a dying monster, groaning with her death wound.

A solid, pyramid-like hummock of ice, left to starboard as the steamer ascended, and which projected close alongside the upper or boat deck as she fell over, had caught in succession every pair of davits to starboard, bending and wrenching them, smashing boats and snapping tackles and grips, until, as the ship cleared herself, it capped the pile of wreckage straining the ice in front of and around it with the end and broken stanchions of the bridge. And in this shattered, box-like structure, dazed by the sweeping fall through an arc of seventy foot radius, crouched Rowland, bleeding from a cut in his head and still holding to his breast the little girl, now too frightened to cry.

By an effort of will he aroused himself and looked. To his eyesight, twisted and fixed to a shorter focus by the drug he had taken, the stowaway was little more than a blotch on the moon whitened fog, yet he thought he could see men clambering and working on the ice; upper davits; and the nearest boat—No. 21—seemed to be swinging by the tackles. Then the fog shut her out, though her position was still indicated by the roaring of steam from her iron lungs. This ceased in time, leaving behind it the hoarse humming sound and whistling of air, and when this, too, was suddenly hushed and the ensuing silence broken by dull, booming reports, as from bursting compartments, Rowland knew that the holocaust was complete; that the invincible Titan, with nearly all of her people, unable to climb vertical floors and ceilings, was beneath the surface of the sea.

Mechanically his benumbed faculties had received and recorded the impressions of the last few moments. He could not comprehend to the full the horror of it all. Yet his mind was keenly alive to the peril of the woman whose appealing voice he had heard and recognized—the woman of his dream and the mother of the child in his arms. He hastily examined the wreckage. Not a boat was intact. Creeping down to the water's edge, he halted, with all the power of his weak voice, to possible but invisible boats beyond the fog, calling to them to come and save the child, to look out for a woman who had been on deck, under the bridge. He shouted this woman's name—the one that he knew—encouraging her to swim, to tread water, to float on wreckage and to answer him until he came to her. There was no response, and when his voice had grown hoarse and futile and his feet numb from the cold of the thawing ice, he returned to the wreckage, weighed down and all but crushed by the blackest desolation that had so far come into his unhappy life. The little girl was crying and he tried to soothe her.

"I want mamma!" she wailed.

"Hush, baby, hush," he answered wearily and bitterly. "So do I—more than heaven. But I think our chances are about even now. Are you cold, little one? We'll go inside and I'll make a house for us."

He removed his coat, tenderly wrapped the little figure in it, and with the injunction, "Don't be afraid, now," placed her in the corner of the bridge, which rested on its forward side. As he did so the bottle of whisky fell out of his pocket. It seemed an age since he had found it there, and it required a strong effort of reasoning before he remembered its full significance. Then he raised it to hurtle it down the incline of ice, but stopped himself.

"I'll keep it," he muttered. "It may be safe in small quantities, and we'll need it on this ice." He placed it in a corner; then, removing the canvas cover from one of the wrecked boats, he hung it over the open side and end of the bridge, crawled within and donned his coat—a ready-made, slop chest garment designed for a larger man—and, buttoning it around himself and the little girl, lay down on the hard woodwork. She was still crying, but soon, under the influence of the warmth of his body, ceased and went to sleep.

Huddled in a corner, he gave himself up to the torment of his thoughts. Two pictures alternately crowded his mind—one that of the woman of his dream entrusting him to come back, which his memory clung to as an oracle; the other of this woman cold and lifeless fathoms deep in the sea. He pondered on her chances. She was close to or on the bridge steps. The boat, 21, which he was almost sure was being cleared away as he looked, would swing close to her as it descended. She could climb in and be saved unless the swimmers from doors and hatches should swamp the boat. And in his agony of mind he cursed these swimmers, preferring to see her mentally the only passenger in the boat, with the watch on deck to pull her to safety.

The patent drug he had taken was still at work, and this, with the musical swish of the sea on the icy beach and the muffled creaking and crackling beneath and around him—the voice of the iceberg—overcame him finally, and he slept to waken at daylight with limbs stiffened and numb—almost frozen.

And all night as he slept a boat with the No. 21 on her bow, pulled by sturdy sailors and steered by brass buttoned officers, was making for the southern lane—the highway of spring tides. And crouched in the stern sheets of this boat was a moaning, praying woman, who cried and screamed at intervals for husband and baby and would not be comforted, even when one of the brass buttoned officers assured her that her child was safe in the care of John Rowland, a brave and truly sailor, who was certainly in the other boat with it. He did not tell her, of course, that Rowland had hailed from the bow as she lay unconscious, and that if he still had the child it was with him there—deserted.

Rowland, with some misgivings, drank a small quantity of the liquor and, wrapping the still sleeping child in his coat, stepped out on the ice. The fog was gone, and a blue, saltless sea stretched out to the horizon. Behind him was ice—a mountain of it. He climbed the elevation and looked at another stretch of recent view from a precipice a hundred feet high. To his left the ice sloped to a steeper beach than the one behind him, and to the right a pile of hummocks and taller peaks, interspersed with numerous canyons and caves and glistening with waterfalls, shut out the horizon in this direction. Nowhere was there a sail or steamer's smoke to cheer him, and he retraced his steps. When but halfway to the wreckage he saw a moving white object approaching from the direction of the peaks.

His eyes were not yet in good condition, and after an uncertain scrutiny he started at a run, for he saw that the mysterious white object was near the bridge than himself and rapidly lessening the distance. A hundred yards away his heart bounded and the blood in his veins felt cold as the ice under foot, for the white object proved to be a traveler from the frozen north, lean and famished—a polar bear, who had scented food and was seeking it—coming on at a lumbering run, with great red jaws half open and yellow fangs exposed. Rowland had no weapon but a strong jackknife, but this he pulled from his pocket and opened as he ran. Not for an instant did he hesitate at a conflict that promised almost certain death, for the presence of this bear involved the safety of a child whose life had become of more importance to him than his own. To his horror, he saw it creep out of the opening in its white covering, just as the bear turned the corner of the bridge.

"Go back, baby, go back!" he shouted as he bounded down the slope. The bear reached the child first and with seemingly no effort dashed it, with a blow of its massive paw, a dozen feet away, where it lay quiet. Turning to follow, the brute was met by Rowland.

The bear rose to his haunches, sank down and charged, and Rowland felt the bones of his left arm crushing under the bite of the big, yellow fanged jaws. But, falling, he buried the knife blade in the shaggy hide, and the bear, with an angry snarl, spat out the mangled member and dealt him a sweeping blow which sent him farther along the ice than the child had gone. He arose, with broken ribs, and, scarcely feeling the pain, awaited the second charge. Again was the yellow vice, and again was he pressed backward, but this time he used the knife with method. The great snout was pressing his breast; the hot, fetid breath was in his nostrils, and at his shoulder the hungry eyes were glaring into his own. He struck for the left eye of the brute and struck true. The five-inch blade went in to the hilt, piercing the brain, and the animal, with a convulsive spring which carried him half way to his feet by the wounded arm, reared up, with paws outstretched, to full eight feet of length, then sagged down and with a few spasmodic kicks lay still. Rowland had done what no hunter will attempt—he had fought and killed the tiger of the north with a knife.

Don't wait until too late.

Be sure to be in time.

Just in time with kidney ills.

Means curing the back.

Before backache becomes chronic.

Before serious urinary troubles set in.

No better remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here is Janesville testimony.

Frank C. Samuels, 989 McKee Ave., Janesville, Wis., says: "I know that Doan's Kidney Pills are a good kidney medicine, having used them with the best results." My kidneys did not do their work as they should and caused my back to ache. I also had pains across my loins. The use of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills a few months ago relieved me, and since then I have had no further trouble from kidney complaint."

Fish Jump Into Boat.
A method of fishing that must seem odd to western ideas is practiced by the Chinese. The fisherman sits down from the side of the boat a screen of white canvas. The shoal of fish mistake this for some floating obstruction and try to jump over it, with the result that they jump into the boat.

Made in Janesville!

It's a commonly accepted truth among manufacturers that a product cannot be marketed in the same community in which it is made. This should not be true. No where is an industry entitled to more consideration than in the city in which it is located and to which it adds its mite in growth and wealth.

Janesville has many diverse industries, each striving to win a support at home; each producing articles that are worthy of consideration and all struggling against competition that is well nigh stiff.

Can we not each one of us make it a personal matter with our selves to be careful to give to our own industries the loyalty that they deserve?

JANESVILLE TEACHERS INTERESTED IN RUMOR

That Average Salary of Teachers in Wisconsin Will Be Increased Within Next Year.

Teachers in the local schools are much interested in the statement that the average salary of the teachers of Wisconsin will be materially increased this year. It is the belief of the state superintendent's office and of W. N. Parker, editor of the Wisconsin Journal of Education, "There are two agencies militating to increase the salaries of these 10,000 teachers. First, there has been an increase of salary in other desirable occupations and teachers are becoming scarcer. Second, the standard of the teaching profession of the state has been increasing gradually and there are a larger number of high school, normal, and university graduates seeking positions who demand a higher salary than the country school teachers, who can offer instruction only in the rudiments."

"In fact the salaries of teachers have been increasing gradually for the past ten years, and will increase more rapidly this year," said Charles L. Harper, chief clerk in the office of the state superintendent of public instruction. "In the country districts men teachers were receiving an average in 1909 of $45.84, and the women teachers $31.79. Two years ago the average salary of men teachers in the country schools was $61.69 and of women teachers $44.29. There has been a similar increase of salaries in the city schools. In 1900 male teachers in the cities received an average salary of $918.21 and in 1910 the average salary was $1,089.45. In the same ten years the average salary of women teachers in the cities has increased from $408.22 to $527.73."

"There has been a gradual increase in the number of male teachers employed in Wisconsin. According to recent figures compiled at the office of the state superintendent only 1,718 men are now employed as compared to about 13,011 women. There are about 6,500 teachers employed in country school buildings of only one room."

"While the higher cost of living has much to do with the increase in the salaries of teachers in the past ten years and will have much to do with the problem this year, there is still another factor to play a still more important part," declared Mr. Harper. "The number of teachers who are graduates from the normals and the universities are increasing. These people are going into the graded schools and the higher class country schools, and they are demanding higher salaries for their services."

DEATH RATE SHOWS A MARKED DECLINE

Report for First Three Months of 1912 Gives Decreases of One Per Thousand Over Last Year.

A marked decline in the number of deaths reported from nearly all of the dangerous communicable diseases is noted in the quarterly report of the state bureau of vital statistics on the monthly mortality, issued today. The total number of deaths reported to the bureau during January, February and March, 1912, was 7,608. It corresponds to an annual death rate for the state of 12.77 per thousand estimated population, as compared with the rate of 13.7 for the same period in 1911, indicating that the rate for the first quarter of 1912 is one per thousand less than for last year.

Comparing the deaths from certain diseases for January, February and March, 1912, with a similar report for 1911, it is shown that there was a decrease in the number of deaths reported from certain diseases as follows: Other forms of tuberculosis, 58; measles, 30; whooping cough, 22; pneumonia, 231; diphtheria, 55; influenza, 14; and paraperal septicaemia, 11. There was an increase in the number of deaths from the following diseases and causes of death: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 15; typhoid fever, 42; diphtheria, 41; scarlet fever, 53; cancer, 22; violence, 76; and stillbirths, 59.

Considering the deaths reported by age groups, there is noted a decline of 263 in the number of deaths among children under one year of age; a decline of 70 in the age group from one to four; and a decline of 122 in the number of deaths of persons 45 years of age and over. This is a comparison with the report of the first quarter of 1911.

Important causes of death with the number of deaths from each disease follow: Pulmonary tuberculosis, 586; other tuberculosis, 83; typhoid fever, 108; diphtheria, 89; scarlet fever, 120; measles 18; whooping cough 30; pneumonia, 276; diarrhea, enteritis under

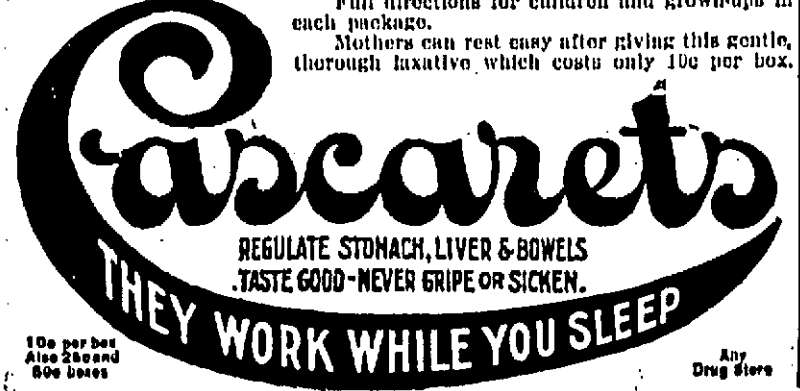

CROSS, SICK, FEVERISH CHILDREN NEED GENTLE, THOROUGH CASCARETS

Most of the ills of childhood are caused by a sour, disordered stomach, sluggish liver and constipated bowels. They catch cold easily, become cross, listless, irritable, feverish, restless, tongue coated, don't eat or sleep well and need a gentle, thorough physic—but don't try to force a nauseating dose of oil into the little one's already sick stomach—it is cruel, needless, and old-fashioned.

Any child will gladly take Cascarets which act gently—never gripe or produce the slightest uneasiness—though cleanses the little one's system, sweetens the stomach and puts the liver and bowels in a pure, healthy condition.

Full directions for children and grown-ups in each package.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this gentle, thorough laxative, which costs only 10c per box.

At The Theatre

"BEVERLY."

Perhaps the company appearing in George McCutcheon's "Beverly" at the Myers Theater, Saturday, May 11 Mat, and evening contains the names of more important players than have appeared here with any other attraction this season. Eleanor Woodruff who plays Beverly Calhoun although a very young girl has played leading roles with Nat Goodwin and the lead with Cyril Reent in the "The Prince Chimp," and only recently turned from the management of J. C. Williamson, the Charles Frohman of the Antioch, Lawrence Evans, who plays Prince Danton was for six years leading man with Walter Whitehead, and has also successfully starred in romantic drama. Edith Hervey who plays Princess Yotiva has enacted leading roles with many high class organizations, including David Bolasen's "Sweet Kitty Belairs," and that poetic drama, "The Road to Yesterday." Davidson Clark who plays General Marlan has been in the support of nearly all the prominent dramatic stars, and has a tremendous following on the Pacific coast, where he is noted for his portrayal of character heavies. Hazel Harroun is a former member of Annie Russell's company and also appeared in Mrs. Pike's "Dusk of the Dufferin." Lillian Allen de Vere who plays Aunt Fanny, Beverly's old colored servant, for several seasons played Martha in Morrison's "Faint" and created the negro mammy in "Cumberbund 61." Chae. J. Perley, who plays Colonel Quinnox, is a former member of Mr. Bolasen's company; and each and everyone of the members of the large company have played important parts with leading Broadway attractions. As this company has been especially organized for a New York engagement at a leading high priced theatre there is no doubt as to the sterling merit of the cast and the elegance of the production.

Dinner Stories

At a meeting of the Fortnightly Club, when, following a general rule, a symposium was held on a standard topic, a paper upon "The Perfect Woman" had been read. There was open discussion and the widest range of opinion had been expressed.

The last word had been said, it would seem, when a little woman of retiring manner arose.

"Ladies," she said, "there seems to be little to add to your conclusions. Yet many of you are of one opinion and many of the opposite. There are others who do not believe that 'the perfect woman' ever existed, which to settle every doubt in the minds of all of you, for I know who 'the perfect woman' is—not, rather, was."

"She was my husband's first wife."

There is a certain instructor in mathematics in a Washington institution who is beginning to wonder whether his five-year-old son is going to inherit his mathematical temperament.

On one occasion the father and mother of this youngster, while visiting a resort near the capital, were watching the boys and girls swing the circle on a merry-go-round. The father commented upon the slight presented by one small, youngster astride a huge lion, and, as he did so, noticed a serious look on the face of his own offspring, who was standing beside him.

"Why such a solemn expression, Tom?" asked the father.

"I was just wondering," said Tom, who had had one ride and, having a ticket for another, wished to use it to the best advantage, "whether I would get a longer ride than I had on the horse in the inside circle if I rode on one of the lions on the outside row."

Old Mr. McClelland was engineer on the train that ran from Summitville, B. C., to Charleston over one of the first railroad tracks laid in that country. And as he grew old and childish his mind, unable to distinguish what he imagined from what really happened, went back to his engine and the wonderful feats he could perform with it. One hot afternoon in the side of a live oak before his store, he sat telling his story of former greatness to Jerry, a simple fellow.

"Yes, sir," declared the old man, "I run the first engine over run. It was an engine, too, and I know how to run it. Why, see here, Jerry, when ever a tree blew down across the track, I never waited to chop it away. No, sir, not me—I just hiled the air valves and pitched the engine over—that's what I done!"

"But, Mr. McClelland," mildly expostulated the credulous Jerry, "after you had got the engine over, how did you get the cars over?"

The old man leaned back and looked at his questioner with great scorn. "Go to the devil, Jerry," he cried. "You ask such foolish questions!"

A plumber was sent to the house of a wealthy stockbroker to make repairs. He was taken by the butler into the dining-room, and was beginning his work when the lady of the house entered. "John," said she, with a suspicious glance toward the plumber, "remove the silver from the sideboard at once and lock it up." But the man of lead was in no wise disconcerted. "Tom," he said to his assistant, "take my watch and chain and these few coppers to my mistress if once."

WHITEWATER ORCHARDS HAVE SAN JOSE SCALE

State Inspector of Nurseries Finds District Seriously Infected and Works for Eradication.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Madison, Wis., May 8.—For the past two months Prof. J. G. Sanders, state inspector of nurseries and orchards, has been making an investigation of the San Jose scale in Wisconsin and found a district in the town of Whitewater to be seriously infected. It is believed the scale has spread in the past few years from an abandoned nursery, which at present contains a large number of young and old trees which have been killed by the scale. Under the direction of Prof. Sanders, the trees are being sprayed with a lime sulphate solution. The horticultural department believes that if this treatment is followed each year, further spread of the scale can be prevented.

Our Policy

To at all times extend you the courtesy your patronage merits and deal honestly with you.

To guarantee every purchase you make, and to save you at least a dollar and two cents on every pair of shoes you buy from us.

To maintain at all times the high quality of our merchandise and to never vary from our established prices.

Values—

And now just a little talk on value—Do you know, sir, that when any article of merchandise rises above a certain standard price, values become fictitious; for instance, the cost of the raw material in a shoe priced at $3.00 and one priced at $6.00 cannot possibly be more than 40 or 50 cents. Nation-wide advertising in magazines, periodicals, etc., costs money and makes the shoe popular, but adds nothing to its wearing qualities or intrinsic value. Costly furniture, high priced, rents and the combined profits paid the traveling salesman, the jobber and at last the retailer must finally be paid by you who buys the shoe.

When you buy here, you buy at the factory door, you pay but one small profit, and that to the manufacturer only. A call at our Branch will convince you of the truthfulness of our statement.
